

Fourth project meeting, in Maribor, 4-5 March 2020

During the two-day meeting in Maribor, project partners analysed what was done so far and agreed on the upcoming activities in the project. The partners were welcomed by the representatives from the University of Maribor: the dean of the Faculty of Arts prof. Darko Friš, the dean of the Pedagogical Faculty prof. Milena Ivanuš Grmek and the head of the Department for Slovenian language and literature at the Faculty of Arts pro. Branislava Vičar.

The meeting focused on finalising language activities and incentives for their implementation in work with children. The partners assessed quality of the work on the activities and have systemised inputs for the database (texts, drawings, photos and graphic cards). The partners also agreed on the deadlines for finalising ongoing milestones and further dissemination for project's end users: teachers, educators, professional departments in schools and kindergartens and professionals working in civil society. Our hosts made sure the hospitality in Maribor was on the highest level which made the hard and fruitful teamwork pass in a very pleasant atmosphere.

Development of Literacy and Language Learning for Disadvantaged Young Learners

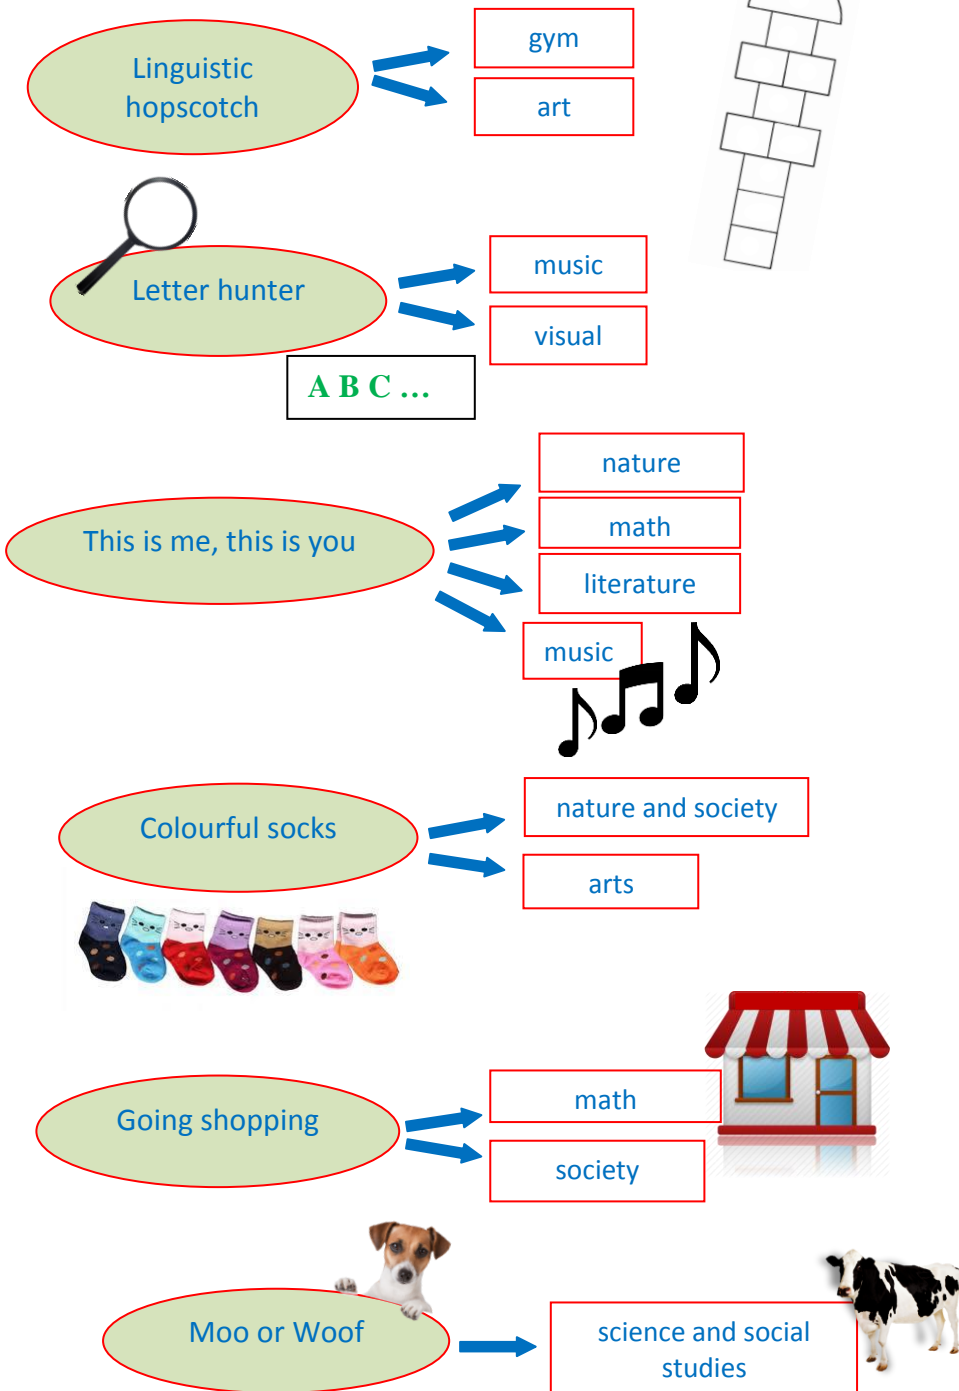

Project work in time of corona
(and the earthquake in Zagreb)
March 2020

News in brief

During the worldwide isolation caused by the Covid-19 virus and a recovery from the earthquake in Zagreb, we continued to work on the activities in developing literacy and language learning from our home offices. We have so far designed 80 activities for all types of learning – formal, non-formal, informal. Special attention was put on transdisciplinarity which comes out of the multiple correlations among various activities. The activities are now being recorded, drawn and stored in the database. And just before the introduction of travel bans in Europe, we held a project meeting in Maribor, Slovenia.
